

TASN Coordination works with Kansas State Department of Education (KSDE) Early Childhood, Special Education, and Title Services (ECSETS) leadership to maintain the vision of the TASN and to provide oversight and monitoring of the TASN. TASN Coordination is a partnership among Pittsburg State University, the Utah State University Center for Technical Assistance for Excellence in Special Education (TAESE), and Keystone Learning Services.

The TASN Coordination team focuses on scaling-up the TASN in a way that aligns and integrates the work of the funded initiatives to build statewide capacity. The goal is a structure that will provide accessible, statewide services and supports to educators and families to achieve improved outcomes for students pre-kindergarten through college and career ready.

The TASN Coordination team collaborates with KSDE, the entire TASN network, and state and national partners to leverage resources; to provide current information; to ensure structures, processes, and systems are consistent and communicated across KSDE, TASN, partners, schools, and families; and to facilitate the system to align resources and efforts. This work cuts across the topics of leadership, accountability, support, and resources that result in educationally significant outcomes for all students, including students with disabilities.

COORDINATED CONFERENCES

The TASN Coordination team organizes several conferences each year, including the KSDE Summer Leadership Conference. Results from the 2015 and 2016 KSDE Summer Leadership Conference show that participants were highly satisfied with the conference organization.

Overall, participants were highly satisfied with these meetings and indicated that they found them informative and useful.

DEVELOPED WWW.KSDETASN.ORG

In 2015, TASN Coordination developed the TASN website (ksdetasn.org). This website includes an event calendar that allows all TASN providers to create and edit their own events and allows anyone to create an account to register for events. The website includes a robust system for requesting support through TASN and accessing any of the nearly 1,000 provider-uploaded resources housed on the site. Additionally, providers can edit and add their own pages to the site. Site visitors can sign up for an email newsletter to stay informed about TASN and upcoming professional development events. District administrators surveyed during the 2016 KSDE Leadership Conference indicated that they were highly satisfied with various aspects of the TASN website.
